

Introducing Our Latest Video Player

At Dailymotion we aim to empower content producers with compelling tools to present their videos, and to give our users one of the best video viewing experiences the web can offer. That's why we've re-built our video player from the ground up.

We're excited to announce that our latest video player is now available in the United States. The new player improves three key functions: performance, compatibility, and customization.

Performance

100% responsive with a faster, sleeker design. Our player performs faster than ever and automatically resizes to fit any device.

Compatibility

With a full range of accessibility and compatibility features, this player enables you to reach even more people with your content.

Customization

Add your own linkable logo overlay, and fully customize the player's color scheme to reinforce your brand identity.
